The Balance of Things or How to settle a debt with a Chicken

Venture into the vibrant and liminal world of Breton fairytales, and a landscape filled with beauties, beasts, strange companions, bizarre marriages and ruthless atonement.

These stories come from a place where everyday life and the fantastic collide - somewhere simultaneously earthy, ethereal and real... With a decidedly comedic twist.

What happens when you just can't resist? Pop that one juicy contraband morsel into your gob and all hell breaks loose - that's what. Follow our fur-clad rule-smashing princess as she follows the jut of her chin and finds her heart's desire.

The Necklace of the Brisings

Freya had to have the incomparable golden necklace crafted by dwarves in Midgard. Never before had she seen anything so beautiful and she was prepared to strike an unusual bargain to make it hers. Little did she know what the consequences of her vanity would be.

Jeremy Harte

Holy and Otherwise

Sturdy monks rescue a maiden in distress - with a difference. Jack comes home from college and wins a young lady using his degree in advanced larceny. The happy endings of these two stories prove that Property Is Theft (or vice versa)

Storytelling is one of the oldest forms of entertainment in the world and is also the way societies hand down their histories and values from one generation to the next. It is currently enjoying a revival, thanks to a renewed interest in the folk arts which also include music, song and dance.

We meet once a month for an evening of stories. The stories are for adults and young people 14+, and there is usually an open floor session in addition to guest tellers.

There is a break for refreshments and homemade cakes

Anyone with a story can tell, however but no reading aloud allowed.
